This bibliography contains items that may help you in teaching the Iroquois unit. Because materials of this sort, especially films, are not plentiful, we have prepared this composite listing. Please note that many of the items do not deal solely with the Iroquois.

Included in this bibliography are items that you may already know about. We prepared this for all teachers--the new teacher as well as the veteran teacher. If you know of any other audio-visual materials dealing with the Iroquois that we have not listed, please let the PROBE office know about them. We will include your suggestions in future supplements to this bibliography.
